Q: How do you get a value from a variable that is in the global scope in as3? In AS3, how do you get the value of a variable when it is in the global scope? For example, I have a variable which is declared at the top of my Flash file:

package com { import flash.display.Sprite; public class testClass extends Sprite { var globalVar:int; .... } }

When I try to get the value of globalVar from within my function, I get a null error. When I put a breakpoint on the function, I can see that the value is set but I can't get it to pass the null check. I can get it to work if I put the variable outside

The FIFA franchise has defined football gaming for the past 25 years. Now in its 23rd edition, FIFA is the cornerstone of EA SPORTS™ FIFA franchise, generating a library of billions of player memories. Featuring a range of authentic and realistic football-playing techniques and behaviour, FIFA allows players to experience the pure emotions of the beautiful game like never before. FIFA has been a unifying force within the gaming community since its inception. The game has been voted the best football game of all time, and it continues to earn fan approval year after year. The global popularity of the FIFA franchise is unrivalled in the gaming industry, with the FIFA franchise setting the bar for sports simulations for over a decade and attracting millions of players around the world. Exclusive to the PlayStation 4, FIFA 22 will take its players to new heights, with a host of improvements in every part of the gameplay, including new ball touches, dynamic off-the-ball behaviour and additions to the already acclaimed goal celebration system. This continues the tradition of innovation that makes FIFA the ultimate football game. Features NEW BALL TOUCHES The ball controls have been enhanced with improved handling and new spins and bounces. These gameplay improvements will allow you to control the ball with greater precision and provide more variety when attacking.

NEW SUBSTITUTION SYSTEM The new substitution system allows you to use EA SPORTS FUT Ultimate Team cards to make tactical substitutions seamlessly throughout the match. Add a midfielder, striker and defender to your squad, then set your team up to play from the middle or from the wing. Be a true football manager and set your formations, tactics, and play style, then matchmake with your favourite friends.

NEW CUSTOMISATION The unique item customisation system, further developed in FIFA 21, allows you to personalise your teams across the pitch with player-specific kits, trousers and socks. For example, if you've got a striker in your squad, he may not be wearing the same boots as your defending midfielder. But both players will look the part when you match them up in FIFA 22.

ELEGANT VISUAL UPDATE The FIFA franchise has always been a celebration of footballing art. FIFA 22 has been developed to bring the sights and sounds of the most successful sporting event on earth to life like never before.

Improvements to the visual presentation include enhanced lighting and new close-up camera angles, all of which have been developed to bring
